06	Plagiarism Nodal Officer	Performing important duty of plagiarism checking in NAU Library which resulting drastic reduction of plagiarism content in publication. For that we regularly organize training for Professor, Scientist and PG students.
07	Digital Library	NAU Library successfully implementation of digitalized library.
08	Organisation of University-Level Exhibitions of Rare and Newly Purchased Books	A university-level exhibition of rare and newly purchased books from the university library is organised twice a year. These exhibitions provide students, faculty members, researchers, and other library users with an opportunity to explore valuable, unique, and recently acquired resources. The initiative has resulted in the extensive use of these books by the university community and has encouraged users to take greater interest in reading and academic learning. By bringing significant library resources directly to the attention of users, the exhibitions have contributed to the promotion of a stronger reading culture across the university.
09	Duties as Drawing and Disbursing Officer of the University Library	I have been performing the duties of Drawing and Disbursing Officer (DDO) at the University Library, Navsari Agricultural University (NAU), Navsari. In this capacity, I have been responsible for carrying out financial and administrative duties related to the functioning of the University Library. These responsibilities include ensuring the proper processing of financial matters, maintaining administrative accountability, and supporting the efficient and effective management of library operations in accordance with applicable rules and procedures.
10	Teaching and Academic Contributions
	10.1 PGS-501: Library and Information Services	I have taught the PGS-501 course, Library and Information Services, to postgraduate students across colleges of Navsari Agricultural University, Navsari. My responsibilities included teaching the course, conducting examinations, and declaring the results. The course familiarises postgraduate students with various library resources and services and enables them to understand how to identify, access, evaluate, and use scholarly information effectively. The practical training provided as part of the course has helped students develop the skills required to make effective use of library resources and services. As a result, the course has contributed to increased utilisation of library resources and services and has encouraged the development of reading and information-seeking habits among the university's student community.

	10.2 PGS-502: Technical Writing and Communication Skills	I have taught the PGS-502 course, Technical Writing and Communication Skills, to postgraduate students at N.M. College of Agriculture, Navsari Agricultural University, Navsari. Through this course, students have developed essential skills in academic and scientific communication, including the preparation of research papers, technical reports, and theses. The course has helped students improve their ability to organise, present, and communicate research findings in a clear, systematic, and technically appropriate manner.
	10.3 AGRON-608: Research and Publication Ethics	I have taught the AGRON-608 course, Research and Publication Ethics, to postgraduate students at N.M. College of Agriculture, Navsari Agricultural University, Navsari. The course has enabled students to develop an understanding of ethical research practices, responsible authorship, research integrity, and ethical research-paper writing. Students have also gained knowledge of research metrics, journal impact factors, and scholarly indicators such as the i10 and i20 indices. As a result of this academic guidance, students have become more aware of the importance of ethical and high-quality research communication and have started publishing scientifically sound and ethically prepared articles in reputable journals.
11	Comprehensive Stock Verification of the NAU Library, Navsari	A comprehensive stock verification of the resources of the Navsari Agricultural University Library was successfully conducted in 2012 and again in 2023. The stock-verification process provided an accurate assessment of the availability, condition, and utilisation of library resources. It also helped identify lost or missing books. After obtaining the approval of the competent committee, necessary action was taken for the replacement of lost books. The verification exercise generated valuable information regarding the resources currently in use and the areas requiring strengthening. This information has been highly beneficial for systematic collection development, resource management, and the effective planning of future library acquisitions.
